

Stand & Deliver is proud to announce that its president, Steve Adubato, PhD, will once again be joining Seton Hall University as a Buccino Leadership Institute Fellow where he is teaching a Master Class on Communication, Public Speaking, and Presentation Skills for students in Seton Hall University's Voice of a Leader initiative.

Dr. Adubato's Master Class will focus on practical communication and presentation skills that are essential to motivating and inspiring any audience to make a change or improvement. Holding a doctorate in communications, Dr. Adubato shares his leadership experiences with the Seton Hall University Buccino Leadership Institute students in a real-life and "hands-on" fashion.

According to Steve Adubato, PhD, President of Stand & Deliver,

"I am honored to once again be joining Seton Hall University's Buccino Leadership Institute to teach this master class with engaged, thoughtful students who are our leaders of tomorrow. Gaining the skills necessary to motivate others to act is essential, and I am thrilled to partner with Seton Hall University and the Buccino Leadership Institute to help our students reach their communication and leadership potential."

Says Bryan Price, PhD, Executive Director of the Buccino Leadership Institute,

"For the 3rd year in a row, we are excited to provide our leadership students with an opportunity to learn and practice crisis communication with Steve in a workshop series like no other. Our mission in the Institute is to take great leaders and make them even better. Steve Adubato's passion and expertise in the field will help them in ways that'll benefit them for the rest of their careers. We can't thank him enough for sharing his time and talent with our students."

The curriculum and content for this Master Class is closely aligned with the current partnership between Seton Hall University, the Seton Hall University Buccino Leadership Institute, and “Steve Adubato’s Lessons in Leadership with Co-host Mary Gamba.” The program is broadcast Sundays on News 12+ at 10:00 a.m., as well as distributed to thousands of thought leaders via our e-newsletter, and is also available on Audible, Apple Podcasts, Google Podcasts, and Spotify, as well as on a variety of other media and digital outlet including:

